

Features

Submersible pressure sensors measure hydrostatic pressure to determine the level of liquids in large tanks and outdoor storage reservoirs. Resting on the bottom of a tank or reservoir, the sensor provides an analog output that is proportional to the depth of the liquid being measured. The caged design of this sensor protects the measuring cell and prevents clogging while acting as a weight to secure the sensor to the bottom of the tank or reservoir. Enables real-time, easy-to-deploy liquid level measurement for wastewater, slurry, sump, reservoir, and bulk storage tank applications.
